FIFTY TRACTORS TO WORK FARM

Fordson Machine to Cut and Thresh Crop; Then Plow, Harrow and Seed Ground

Modern methods in farming will be introduced to Weber county farmers at the "Combie Farm" at Uintah, July 21, 22, 23 and 24, according to word given out today by H. E. Hildebrand of Bloomington, Ill., who will demonstrate the Fordson tractor to farmers of this section.

More than 50 tractors will be placed in operation on the farm. The wheat on the farm at this stage will first be cut, then threshed, by the machines. The ground will then be plowed, harrowed and re-seeded by the tractor.

The machines in use at the Combie Farm will total more than $100,000 in value and will be operated by experts.

"The horse is a thing of the past throughout America in most industrial lines and the automobile and steam and gasoline power are fast coming to the front," said Mr. Hildebrand today.

"With the new system in store weeks and even months of toil with horse-drawn implements can be completed within a few days. The world is fast progressing and modern equipment is the answer to demand for speeded-up production."

Friday, July 23, has been selected as Ogden day at the demonstrations.

WILL NORTHERN BAPTISTS PUNISH REV. BROUGHER?

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 28.—Whether the northern Baptist convention will crown upon the marriage of divorced persons by refusing to elect the Rev. J. W. Brougher of Los Angeles a member of the executive committee will not be known until tomorrow.

Mr. Brougher performed the marriage ceremony for Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford. The names of the moving picture stars were not mentioned on the convention floor but it was conceded that the opposition to election of Dr. Brougher was due to his attitude on the divorce problem. The chair ruled the name might be written in by delegates opposed to the nominating committee slate.

The other candidates named on the ticket headed by Ernest L. Tutin, Philadelphia for president, were unopposed. The tellers had not finished counting ballots when the convention adjourned until tomorrow. Mr. Montgomery of Rochester was elected president of the women's American Baptist foreign missionary society; Mrs. John Nyeven of Illinois, president of the women's home mission society; Governor C. E. Milliken of Maine, president of the American Baptist missionary society; Charles R. Brock, of Colorado, president of the American Baptist home missionary society and Frank H. Robinson of Pennsylvania, president of the American Baptist publication society.

The convention adopted a resolution declaring for the strict enforcement of the prohibition act and declared Baptists would not support any political party that sought modification of existing dry laws.

Fish There; Science Needed, Says Warden

Fishing in Weber county is better than in any previous year, according to W. H. "Buck" Anderson, game warden for this county. While some of the stars of the rod have went forth for hours and hours, have cast their flies here, there and everywhere, and have returned minus a catch, the warden states that the fish are in the streams but that science must be used to lure 'em to bite.

Several record catches have been reported during the past week. At least thirty men caught the limit, according to Anderson, while fishing last week.

The bathing hour was announced in Rome by the ringing of a bell. France is to place one per cent tax on all business transactions.

PALMER LEAVES ON ALASKA TRIP

Ogden Forest Service Men to Make Survey of Reindeer Development

L. J. Palmer, well known forest service employee, who was in charge of the department of staking at the local offices, departed Sunday for Seattle to join Herbert Johnston, also of the local office.

The two will continue from Seattle to Nome, Alaska, where they will start inland to take up new work with the biological survey.

Palmer was selected to make a reconnaissance of range conditions along the northern coast of Alaska with reference to possibilities of developing reindeer herds in that area. There are at present nearly 200,000 animals in the country and the range will support 10,000,000, the herd will be developed to this extent along scientific lines.

Diseases of the animals and their habits, as well as the possibility of the land furnishing sufficient food for so large a number, will be worked out by men assigned to the work by the biological department. The work will last nearly three years.

PEAK OF HIGH PRICES REACHED, SAY EXPERTS

CHICAGO, June 28.—Declaring that some students of finance had predicted that the peak of high prices had been reached and that retail costs had started down grade, a review by Armour and company today said that "the extent to which that is true cannot be estimated in any accurate measure at this time."

"Indications of falling prices have been offset to some degree by the increased cost of raw materials and of transportation as well as by curtailment of production, particularly in the textile industry," the review said.

It declared that market conditions in the packing industry had shown a considerable improvement, but that the livestock industry had been and would continue to be a victim of the country's intricate financial situation. The country faced a meat shortage unless stock raisers could obtain money to restock their ranches, the review said.

'N ALL IS NOT SWEET WHAT LOOKS LIKE A LUMP OF SUGAR

(By International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—The life of a presidential nominee is not a bed of roses.

Here are a few of the trials to which Senator Warren G. Harding has been subjected since he was chosen by the Chicago convention to head the Republican ticket:

Having to explain to Prohibitionists how he happened to own three shares of brewery stock.

Having his negro cook interviewed as to what he eats for breakfast.

Having a cigar named after him without knowing its quality.

Having "Edgar" John Sims, the colored barber, who prayed for him, interviewed on the text of his prayer.

Having to make a speech into a talking machine, so that the records may be distributed for campaign arguments.

Having the question asked: "Is it true that you play poker?"

Having to identify his physiognomy in a picture of the Caledonia Silver Cornet band, taken many years ago.

Having to buy presents for children named after him.

Having photographers spoil his drives on the golf links.

Having persons ask for jobs ranging from portering to cabinet posts.

Having women reporters write that Mrs. Harding wore frayed gloves when she came home from Chicago after the nomination.

Having fond parents ask him to kiss their children.

Having to deny that he was born in a log cabin.

Having to act pleasant to omnipresent pests who "just wanted to shake your hand."

EXCLUSIVE SHOWING OF GREAT COMEDIES FOR THE OGDEN

The management of the Ogden theatre has announced the exclusive showing for the Larry Semon comedies in Ogden in addition to the $100,000 two-reel comedies in which Larry Lloyd is the star. These two big comedy stars who are the peers of comedians upon the screen. The exclusive showing of the two stars in the future is a guarantee of entertainment.

The management has paid a big price for the right to show the big screen stars in Ogden. They feel that the outlay for the comedies is small in comparison to what will be afforded their patrons in the showing.

The Ogden has secured one of the greatest arrays of pictures for early showing for the balance of the summer months. The producers' exchanges and the market has been combed to secure the best in the world's output of acknowledged successes.

Some of the big ones start next Thursday with "Blind Youth" from the play of the same name by Willard Mack and Louis Teltogen, and which was shown on the stage in Ogden. On the following Sunday the greatest of the "daredevil" horsemen, Tom Mix, will be seen in his latest sensation, "The Terror," a drama of dare devilry and romance.

Among the other big successes to follow will be "George Washington in 'Passion's Playground,'" the greatest of all Mexican border photo-dramas, "Rio Grande," Emerson Hough's great Saturday Evening Post story, "The Sagebrusher," Will Rogers in "Jes' Call Me Jim."

Louise Glaum, who made a great hit in "Sagebrusher," will be seen shortly in another big success, "Lone Wolf's Daughter," the famous London detective story. Olive Thomas in "Youthful Folly," William Faversham in "The Man Who Lost Himself." Another big Tom Mix picture will be "Three Gold Coins." These pictures are but a few that have been contracted for early showing at the Ogden. The program for the fall and winter which is under formation will be the greatest picture program ever offered the motion picture patrons of Ogden.

2 BLACK EYES IN 2 DAYS TOO MUCH, SAYS WIFE

TAYLORVILLE, Ill.—Christian county is boarding Levi Moore now. He stands to get the free eats and lodging for two hundred and twelve days.

Why? Well, Moore came home the other day and something went wrong. Shortly afterward Mrs. Moore had a black eye. The next day Moore came home again and something went wrong. And as before Mrs. Moore emerged with another darkened optic. Two black eyes were too much, so she went down and swore out a warrant for her husband's arrest, charging him with assault and battery. The judge thought Moore ought to be given two hundred and twelve days in jail to think it over, so they sent him there for that time.

But Moore hasn't got it so nice and free and easy. They gave him a nice little bucket and mop to continue his prowess on in the direction of cleaning the jail from stem to stern once daily.

In states where the regular official primary is held later than the dates set for the national party conventions, an extra spring primary must be held in presidential years. This spring primary is held partly to allow the voters to choose, by vote, delegates to the national conventions.
